DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it refers to the purported merits of the invention. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Schultz (U.S. Patent 2,465,936). Schultz discloses a device comprising support members (18); a flexible barrier (15) extending at least partially therebetween; upper and lower barrier members (16); and a plurality of linking members (Figure 6, for example).
- 4. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cotton (U.S. Patent 2,440,574). Cotton discloses a device comprising support members (38, 39); a flexible barrier (A) extending at least partially therebetween; upper and lower barrier members (10, 17); and a plurality of linking members (Figure 1, for example).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. Claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marcotullio et al. (U.S. Patents 5,993,104 or 5,829,912) in view of either Schultz or Cotton, as applied above.

Application/Control Number: 10/019,920

Art Unit: 3671

Each of the Marcotullio et al. patents discloses a device comprising support members (14, 16); a flexible barrier (20) extending at least partially therebetween; upper and lower barrier members have been obvious to have utilized the gaps of either Schultz or Cotton with the barrier of Marcotullio et al. in order to form an apparatus not having an underground undeployed condition.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional references teach barriers.
